

Welton History Group

The Lost Village of Thrupp

A talk by Jackie Hibbert

Monday 25th September, 7.30pm

Welton Village Hall

The village of Thrupp lay mid-way between Welton and Norton, on the road between Daventry and Long Buckby. It was once a thriving village but at the end of the fifteenth century it ceased to exist.

Come and find out about the people, how they lived, the intrigue (including a murder or two) and why the village disappeared.

£3 per person to include refreshments.